

DEFINITION OF RELATED SERVICES

Related Services are required to assist a student with a disability to benefit from and access educational services. The term “related services” means developmental, corrective and other supportive services including, but not limited to: audiological services, psychological services, physical and occupational therapy, social work services, counseling services, orientation and mobility services, interpreting services, school nurse or other medical services, parent training, and transportation.

To determine what special education services and/or related services will be provided to the child, the IEP Team will look at the child’s present levels of academic and functional performance, assessment results, and the measurable annual goals and, if appropriate, the short term objectives or benchmarks that are included in the IEP.

Related services should be documented in the IEP in the Services - Related Services section within the appropriate environment (General Education or Special Education).
